J. A. M.

Well, here we are back again with plenty of news and all year to talk it over.

Judging from the height of the lunch counter, with its novel screen effect, we are at a loss to determine whether it is a protective measure against floating pies or whether they believe in the old saying, "A protected bun is worth two on an open counter."

Just the other day a young man was seen standing discreetly to one side watching Comerford's charges go through their dummy tackling program. Every time a Greyhound would hurtle through the air and bring down the canvas form, the interested spectator was seen to sway and his face was momentarily distorted with a mingled expression of joy and pain. Joy at the manifestation of such spirit and sympathy for the adversary.

Rev. Thomas J. Murray, S. J., has been keeping the boys posted on his trek to the far-off reaches of Mindanao, P. I.

On Friday, September 28, the Class of '30 attended mass in the College Chapel in memory of their former classmate, Tom Law.

You can't stop people from thinking—but you can start them.

At the recent meeting of the Athletic Association the idea of an Alumni-Student rally was the topic of serious and enthusiastic conversation. It is scheduled for the night of October 12, the eve of the homecoming game with Washington College. A wonderful idea, and may it be the first of many throughout the year—for basketball and even base-

FATHER MURRAY TENDERED FAREWELL DINNER BY SENIORS

The present Senior class tendered a farewell dinner in Washington to the Rev. Thomas J. Murray, S. J., a few days before his departure for the Philippine Missions.

Bunny Talley, ex-'29, acting as toastmaster, called on everyone present. Father Murray in his talk spoke enthusiastically of his assignment to "Fields Afar," and smilingly invited members of the class to visit him. There were twenty-three speeches, one of which was prepared, admittedly so.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh I. Kavanagh, whose names have long been connected with the activities at Loyola, were guests of honor.

FATHER O'MALLEY SPEAKS AT MASS OF HOLY GHOST

New Dean Draws Striking Comparison in Character Building in Catholic Education; Build-with God as Foundation, He Urged

Mindful of the position that religion must occupy in any well-ordered system of education, Loyola formally inaugurated the scholastic year with the Mass of the Holy Ghost on Wednesday, September 19th, when the Faculty and Student Body assisted at the Holy Sacrifice, to ask God's blessing on the important work of the coming year. The Reverend President celebrated the Mass in the Students' Chapel, and the newly appointed Dean, the Reverend Thomas I. O'Malley, addressed the student body.

Striking Comparison

From the Library, under construction only a stone's throw from the Chapel, the Dean drew many striking illustrations for his talk on the real purpose of the year's scholastic work—the construction of the individual character in accordance with the plan of God. In part, he said:

"The proudest building ever reared was not built for its own sake. All the art, the skill and labor lavished on it are for some further end. From that purpose ever before him the architect draws his inspiration, under the guidance of that purpose the builders toil, and because of that purpose, is all the expenditure of time and effort and money. And the Catholic Student, in the construction of his edifice of

SOPHOMORES, JUNIORS ELECT OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

The Sophomores and Juniors lost no time in selecting officers to handle the affairs of their respective classes during the coming year. Thus far elections have not been held in the Senior and Freshman classes.

John S. Hild, who presided over the class of '30 during their Sophomore year, was re-elected for the Junior session. Pierre A. Kleff holds the office of vice-president in the same class and Michael J. May and Edward A. Doehler will handle the finances and record the activities of the class, respectively. Edward Healy is sergeant-at-arms.

RECTOR

Rev. Henri J. Wiesel, S. J.

FATHER WIESEL APPOINTED NEW RECTOR OF LOYOLA

Loyola began her seventy-sixth year in the field of higher education with the appointment of a new rector, the Rev. Henri J. Wiesel, S. J.

Reverend Father Wiesel is known to many former students of Loyola, having been instructor of the Freshman Year in 1923. Father Wiesel returned to Loyola after several years' absence, as Dean and later was appointed vice-rector.

Along with Father Wiesel's appointment as Rector a number of other changes were made in the faculty for the scholastic year 1928-29.

The Rev. Thomas I. O'Malley, formerly Professor of Rhetoric at Boston College, returning from a year of study in Europe, succeeded Rev. Joseph J. Ayd as Dean. Father Ayd has resumed teaching Sociology and will also conduct the Political Economy course this year.

The Rev. Francis J. McNiff, former Associate Editor of America, was transferred from the Campion House, New York City, to professorship in the English department at Loyola. Rev. Edmund P. Cerrute, formerly of St. Peter's College, Jersey City, has taken over the duties of Prefect of Discipline and Director of Athletics.

GREYHOUNDS ALL READY TO TACKLE VILLA NOVA OPENING SEASON SATURDAY

Coach Comerford Is Confident Eleven Will Give Good Account of Itself; Team Mentally and Physically Fit, He Says

Coach "Tony" Comerford is taking an optimistic view of the season's outlook and promises a scrappy contingent will take the field when the Greyhounds tackle Villa Nova at Philadelphia on Saturday.

The former Fordham Freshman mentor said:

"The team will be ready to give a good account of itself next Saturday at the opening game."

No Need to Worry

He further enlarged on this optimistic attitude by discussing the physical and mental equipment of his charges. He said:

"With a team properly equipped mentally and physically, each man carrying out his assignment to the letter, there is little need to worry about the result."

The lone note of regret is that reserve material is limited. Needless to say he would feel much more at ease if there were more men on the sidelines.

"But," says Comerford, "since the referee allows only eleven men to a team on the field, if I have eleven men who can go in and 'stay put', there is no need for subs."

Twelve-Man Squad

He recalled the fact that his Alma Mater, Boston College, beat Yale using but twelve men against Yale's hordes.

In this incident he pointed to the failure of Yale's attempt to win by that "psychological effect."

Speaking of the more promising of the candidates, the coach said that Intrieri is as good a man as he has seen in the East; fearless, tireless, willing, thinking every second of the game.

"Can Do It"

Of Bunting, as Captain, much is expected, and he will have to travel fast to come up to the coach's expectations, but Comerford says, "He can do it."

Finnerty is more or less unfortunate in having to attempt to fill the shoes of the All-American center, Desmond.

Congratulations

It is with the greatest pleasure that THE GREYHOUND extends the congratulations of the student body to Rev. Father Wiesel upon his recent appointment as Rector of Loyola.

In Father Wiesel, a Loyola man himself, we have combined all the advantages which come from the enthusiasm of youth, tempered with the wisdom of maturity. In him, Loyola has a man who understands men and men's problems. Under his guidance Loyola's advancement is bound to be rapid and certain. Once more, THE GREYHOUND says, "Congratulations."

It is our most sincere wish and endeavor that we shall make Father Wiesel as proud of Loyola and the men who are at Loyola, as his Alma Mater and the student body are proud of him.

The Link

In the final edition of the 1927-28 GREYHOUND there appeared an editorial urging a closer union between the Alumni and the Student Body.

We stress this matter and offer again this year the suggestion that THE GREYHOUND is the logical means of communication and mediation between the graduate and undergraduate bodies.

A college publication which fails to establish this contact misses one of the main purposes of its existence.

Speaking at THE GREYHOUND dinner, held in June, Isaac S. George, prominent alumnus, enunciated the policy which we shall endeavor to follow for the coming year. He said:

"In the establishment of a spirit of cooperation between the Alumni and the Student Body, THE GREYHOUND will not only benefit itself, but, by this contact, will establish a closer and more intimate union between two bodies which have for their common purpose the advancement of Loyola."

Actuated by this principle we shall do all in our power to further this spirit of fraternization and unity of purpose tending towards the reanimation of those members of the Alumni Association who have drifted into the byways of other interests.

Let THE GREYHOUND do its share.

The Greyhound wishes to extend to the bereaved family of Leo Goodreau and to the faculty and students of Villa Nova College the sincere sympathy of the students of Loyola College.

Try It

Ever stop to think what you could do with a ten-dollar gold-piece, if you had it? Well you could commit a plethora (large number) of things. You could get a pair of tickets and a taxi to the Maryland; or you could support a couple Armenian orphans for a while, if you like that form of amusement; or you might buy ten new neckties, or a flivver; or see a couple of football games; or maybe take a correspondence course in journalism.

You could acquire a fine stable of "ponies"; or get a railroad ticket to Roaring Springs, Pa., or best of all, get a bag of one thousand pennies and rattle 'em.

How're you to get the ten? See the news item on the first page. Then get a pencil stump and on an old envelope dash off a few cheers. Football cheers. Simple, huh? Yeah!

Of course, we could mention school spirit, but that would be unnecessary. And er—ah—, just as a formality, we must insist that the yells be original—with you!

Class Elections

We extend our hearty congratulations to the newly elected class officers for the coming year. It is no casual honor to be chosen official guide of the activities of your respective classes.

Class activities and class accomplishments are, however, in direct proportion to the support given to them by all the members of a class. As in every organized body, there are the duties of the officers to the class, and the class in turn owes its unstinted and unselfish allegiance to the efforts sponsored by its leaders. It is not the duty of a Class President to hold the fort alone; nor are class elections to be looked upon as a splendid opportunity to "pass the buck." Happily, such an attitude is not characteristic of Loyola men.

Classmen, you have shown good judgment, now get behind them.

Scientists' Convention

The phenomenal success of scientific research during the past twenty years as evidenced by the facts discovered, theories formulated, and applications achieved, largely motivated the formation, about seven years ago, of the "American Association of Jesuit Scientists." During the month of August the Eastern States Division of this Association held its annual convention at Woodstock College, Md. The appropriateness of selecting Woodstock College, the Alma Mater of most of the Scientists present, as the seat of the convention seems obvious. Each scientific advance, whether in the field of the physical or biological sciences, means in reality a better understanding of proximate causes. This knowledge necessarily influences the relationship between proximate and ultimate causes. In what more suitable environment, then, could these scientists test their knowledge of proximate causes than in those same halls where they first learned the necessary and immutable nature of ultimate causes—the auras of philosophy of Woodstock College?

In addition to this deeper significance of the Woodstock Convention, there was present, of course, the scientific educational element. Though the undergraduate courses are essentially the same in all Jesuit Colleges, each Professor has his special problems arising from local conditions. Experience shows that such problems are very frequently solved by mere interchange of ideas. A convention of the type held at Woodstock offers the opportunity for such discussion of provincial difficulties with the result that each convention becomes a stepping-stone towards systematic uniformity in the pedagogy of science.

The gathering of Jesuit Scientists was indeed formidable. The Jesuit Biologists, Chemists, Physicists, Astronomers, Seismologists, Geologists and Mathematicians present represented two Universities, seven Colleges, and eleven High Schools. It is with great pride that we note the prominent place in all the proceedings occupied by the Science Faculty of Loyola College. Reverend Richard B. Schmitt, S. J., Head of our Department of Chemistry, who has been Chairman of the Chemistry Section of the Association for two years, presided over the Convention in the absence of the President, Reverend Edward C. Phillips, S. J., who was detained in Paris at an International Convention of Astronomers. The scholarly and interesting papers read by Professor Schmitt, Professor Love, Head of our Physics Department, and Professor Berger, Head of our Biology Department, are noted in the news column of this issue. We offer our sincere congratulations to these members of the Faculty for upholding the scholarship of Loyola College in an educational circle to which we, their students, may only aspire.

Frank Peach, '26, has generously consented to handle the Alumni Notes for THE GREYHOUND. All communications regarding Alumni activities should be addressed to him in care of THE GREYHOUND. It is hoped that members of the Alumni will show their interest by contributing to this column which is exclusively theirs.

ALUMNI NOTES

Following is a letter received by the Reverend Rector in response to an invitation to attend graduation exercises and the Jubilee Mass at St. Ignatius' last June. It is from the oldest living alumnus of Loyola.

St. James Protectors
Delaware City P. O., Del.
June 7, 1928.

Rev. Henry J. Wiesel, S. J.,
Loyola College, Charles St. Ave.
Reverend and Dear Father:

Please accept my thanks for the honor of invitation to the Solemn Pontifical Mass, celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of St. Ignatius' Church, Baltimore, Maryland, Sunday, June 10; and to the Seventy-Sixth Annual Commencement, June 11, at Evergreen.

To my sincere regret it will not be possible for me to be present on those occasions, owing to my duties here.

With greatest respect,
I am your obliged and grateful servant;

JOHN A. DALY, Class of 1860.
Formerly of St. Denis' Church,
Galena, Maryland.

The Athletic Association's executive board held its preliminary meeting of the year at the Emerson Hotel on September 24. Election of officers was the principal motive for the meeting.

Mr. J. Goddard Mattingly was elected president on the nomination of Mr. Joseph P. Healy. The Student Body was represented by Joseph A. Murphy of the Senior Class.

A topic which aroused the intense interest of all present at the meeting was the idea of a joint Alumni-Student meeting. This get-together is scheduled for Friday night, October 12, the night preceding the homecoming game with Washington College.

In a recent edition of the Standard and Times, Philadelphia's Catholic news-sheet, there appeared a comprehensive and historical dissertation on the life and character of John Barry, "Father of the American Navy," by Martin I. J. Griffin, 3rd, a member of the class of '28.

The same interesting style, which characterized "Marty's" literary endeavors while at Evergreen, was conspicuously present in this splendid piece of journalism.

Rev. George S. Strohaber, S. J., is recuperating at Evergreen after a long protracted illness at Holy Cross College. Father Strohaber is of the Class of '08 and figured prominently in debating and dramatics while a student at Loyola. He is at present head of the Chemistry Department at Holy Cross.

Charles S. Lerch, '11, president of the Alumni Association, returned safely to Baltimore after a stay of more than two weeks in Florida and is now making arrangements for the rally to be held Friday, October 12.

FOOTBALL

1928-1929 MODEL GREYHOUND NOW READY FOR FACTORY TEST

The 1928 eleven cylinder Greyhound will soon be complete. Few changes will be noted in the body design, but the engine has undergone some drastic changes in an effort to increase speed and power.

The new model will depart somewhat from the beauty of the Rockne machine in favor of the somewhat more tractor-like ruggedness of the Cavanaugh school.

Old Squad Nucleus

The greater part of the machine is to be made up of well tried and tempered steel. Captain Bunting, Tierney, Cannon, Mackall, Schmid, Coyle, Intriere, Dudley, O'Donnell, Finnerty, Boyd, Monahan, Mosser, Rodowskas, Daugherty, Chester, Ellis, Alminde, Connelly, Kane, Hild, Child, Healy and McCormack return from last year's squad and the nucleus of the eleven will, no doubt, be formed from these.

Some material was salvaged from Loyola High School's State Champion machine. Ken Curtis and Bernard McCormack, all-scholastic end and guard, respectively, are bent on garnering further football laurels. Duffy, McGee and Porter, also members of last year's High School eleven, are wearers of the Green and Gray and can stand close watching as the season advances.

New Center Needed

The installation of a new starter was necessitated by the departure of last year's center, Jim Desmond. "Reds" Finnerty was the only hopeful out for the job until B. McCormack and Coyle were converted from guards to center. The three of them are now running neck and neck for the job with "Reds" a little in the lead.

Plenty of material is available for all other positions in the forward wall. Intriere, Mosser, Schmid and Daugherty are filling in at guard, while Bunting, Healy, Chester, Duffy and Hild are fighting it out for tackle. Dudley, O'Donnell, Curtis, Watson, Rodowskas, Alminde, Ellis and Porter give Coach Comerford plenty of material for the ends.

Two signal-barkers of last year have returned, Kane and Mackall. Other good ball-toters could be selected from the following men: Child, Boyd, Connelly, Monahan, Cannon, McGee, McCormack, Gregory, Nieberding, and McLeland.

The schedule follows:

October 6—Villa Nova College at Philadelphia.

October 13—Washington College at Baltimore.

October 20—Duquesne University at Pittsburgh.

COACH

"Tony" Comerford

October 27—St. Francis College at Baltimore.

November 3—Western Maryland College at Baltimore.

November 10—Catholic University at Washington.

November 17—United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

November 24—St. John's College at New York.

Education, must, like these builders, have a definite purpose dominating all his scholastic labors. That purpose should be to build for God. No edifice that was not founded on Him could last, for God had fashioned man's soul to His own image and likeness and had loaned it to man for a time, to be returned to God conformable to that same image and likeness for all eternity. All education rightly interpreted consists in man's working with God and for God to perfect that image in the whole man.

The Dean insisted that "while the student is equipping himself to be a citizen of this country, he should never forget that his final goal is citizenship in the Kingdom of Heaven; that the only assurance of gaining that Citizenship will be to build his temple of wisdom on this, a foundation that is eternal: "Other foundations no man can place, save that which has been placed, which is Christ Jesus, the Lord."

SIX FORMER SOPHOMORES STUDYING FOR PRIESTHOOD

A recent roll call of last year's Sophomore Class revealed that five of its members are continuing their studies at St. Mary's Seminary, and one other of their number has entered the Jesuit novitiate.

Those at St. Mary's are Frederick T. Bauernschub, Cornelius J. Byrnes, Eugene F. McGrath, John S. Spence and John H. Zerhusen. Robert A. Thoman was sent to the Novitiate of the Missouri Province, due to the lack of accommodations at St. Andrew-on-Hudson.

J. Edward O'Brien, honor man of the class of '28, has also taken up studies at St. Mary's, with the bright future of serving under Bishop Hafey in the diocese of Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. O'Brien while in college was noted for his oratorical ability and delivered the valedictory at the Graduation of last year.

sociation, delivered the Presidential Address, taking as his subject "The Evolution of the Elements and the Stability of Complex Atoms." As Chairman of the Chemistry Division, Father Schmitt spoke on "The Quantitative Analysis of Steel."

Father Love Lectures

Rev. Thomas J. Love, S. J., Professor of Physics at Loyola College, lectured on "The Stetho-phone." Mr. Charles A. Berger,
S. J., Professor of Biology at Loyola College, read two interesting papers entitled: "Our Present Knowledge of Variation and Heredity and Its Relation to the Evolution Question," and "Can We Get a New Definition of Species from Modern Genetics?"

Rev. F. A. Tondorf, S. J., of Georgetown University; Rev. W. R.
